ABOUT ME

I am a skilled Python developer with 1 year of experience in building efficient and effective applications. I have experience with Python frameworks such as Django and DRF, which I use to develop advanced web applications. And partly for the frontend part I use partly HTML, CSS and JavaScript for frontend development.

I like to solve complex problems and always strive to find optimal solutions in short deadlines. I am committed to delivering high quality code and ensuring the successful completion of assigned projects.
